FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Board of Health Issues Certificates of Excellence

Coldwater, MI. The Branch-Hillsdale-St. Joseph Community Health Agency's Board of Health released its "Certificates of Excellence" in food service for the year 2013. Awardees represent food establishments that were able to meet stringent criteria during the year. Specifically, the facility must have had no Priority or Priority foundation items and no more than three core items cited during their onsite inspection. According to Rebecca Burns, Environment Health Director, "Priority items and priority foundation items are essential items that, if found to be in violation, could result in foodborne illnesses. Core items are non-priority or priority foundation items that relate to general sanitation and/or maintenance." In addition, the food establishment must comply with the following criteria:

- The food service facility must employ a certified food safety manager, as required by Michigan law.
- The food service facility must be compliant with Michigan's smoke-free law.
- The food service facility must be at a fixed location and operate at least 12 days per month and perform food preparation at the facility.
- The food service facility cannot have been implicated in a foodborne illness outbreak.
- The food service facility cannot have investigated and confirmed complaints lodged against them.

- The food service facility cannot have an enforcement action issued against them.

Rebecca Burns added, “Ninety-seven tri-county food service establishments, including restaurants, bars, catering kitchens and schools received this year’s award. The establishments who were able to meet the stringent criteria are quite deserving of this honor.” Food service inspections are normally performed twice in a year. The Environmental Health Division inspects all food service establishments in the tri-county area to assure proper food handling and sanitation for food served to the public. Additionally, food service managers are offered food safety training by the department each year to train food service workers in proper food handling and preparation.
